PRESS RELEASE

ETA® International Partners with IWCE for Another Education Forum

ETA® International partners with IWCE to once again co-locate the 2023 Education Forum with the IWCE Expo in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Greencastle, August 11, 2022: Join ETA at the 2023 Education Forum in Las Vegas, Nevada during March 27-30, 2023. ETA's Education Forum will be located at the Las Vegas Convention Center – North Hall along side the IWCE Expo.

The ETA Education Forum event offers individuals the opportunity to network, collaborate and train. Event participants are given an opportunity to discuss training demands, recent developments in emerging technologies and industry trends.

Those attending the available training sessions will have the opportunity to become certified as part of the class. Certification is important in this competitive job market, and remains a vital part of electronics-related industries.

Attendees at the ETA Education Forum include: faculty in technology programs who want to gain knowledge about new technologies, and how to expand existing programs; college representatives, program development specialists, and counselors who are interested in creating and maintaining electronics programs and in developing strategies for recruiting students; industry trainers and managers who want to gain insight from educators; workforce development personnel from government, labor, business, and education who are involved in shaping electronics programs; individuals concerned with current industry trends, emerging technologies and educational programs.

ETA® International is proud to provide training through outside vendors in popular technology areas leading to ETA certification. ETA will provide opportunities to test in each area during Education Forum/IWCE, and will also offer a series of Short Courses. Training courses must be purchased separately and are not part of any IWCE conference package. Please check back often for updates.
